

Grandpa Bill

My grandpa, Bill, was born in Erie, PA to two Slovak immigrants. He served in the Korean war in the Air Force as a military policeman. After the war, he married my grandmother, Joanne, and had four sons. Growing up, he always enjoyed sharing his wisdom, whether you always wanted to hear it or not! Now that I'm an adult, I realize all his sayings are accurate and I appreciate them. His sayings have stuck with me even though he is gone now.

His favorite saying that has always stuck with me is "save a little, spend a little, share a little". Spend a little money on yourself, save a little money for the future, and share a little money with everyone. Sharing was very important to him and it is very important to me also! I can still picture him sitting on the old rocking chair giving me advice during the evening news.
